

Intern Seminar Reflection

Throughout the course of the school year there have been monthly intern/practicum student seminars. As part of my professional and ethical practice I have regularly attended these seminars. Through the seminars I have had to opportunity to meet other school psychology interns and professionals in the field. There were many topics discussed such as QPR training, resume writing and interview preparation for my future career, trauma in schools, and how to administer and write-up neurological assessments in a school setting. These seminars have been to increase our knowledge and to be more effective in our sites. I have found these seminars beneficial to expanding on my knowledge in the field and making myself more effective as a result.
