To Whom It May Concern:

The Massachusetts School of Professional Psychology has some exciting news to share.
Beginning on May 7, 2015, we will be operating under a new name:

WILLIAM JAMES COLLEGE

In terms of our business, please note the following.

- Please update your records to reflect our new name: William James College
- Our new web address will be www.williamjames.edu.
- Email will change on May 1, 2015 to firstname_lastname@williamjames.edu.
- Our tax exemption number remains the same. It is 04-2620216

Please read below to learn more about our new name.

For forty years, we have pioneered a unique approach to education in applied psychology. Every day, our students and alumni make a difference in communities in Massachusetts and across the globe. By renaming the Massachusetts School of Professional Psychology to William James College, we have a great opportunity to advance our distinctive model of experiential education.

William James was the founder of American psychology, an educator's educator, one of the century's greatest philosophers, an innovator, and an advocate whose prolific writings and prodigious mentorship profoundly influenced the practice of applied psychology, experiential education, sociology, and race relations.

By linking our college to William James, we reinforce our unique vision and position in our field and signal that we intend to keep evolving the way that we educate students to fit the needs of the world that we live in today.

If you have any questions on the name change, please reach out to Katie O'Hare at katie_ohare@mspp.edu. Please visit www.mspp.edu/williamjames for more information.

Sincerely,

Nicholas A. Covino, PsyD
President
